A long awaited childhood dream finally came through for two close friends from Ukraine who wanted to travel to the United States. Meet Marta Trembetska, freshman marketing major and Anastasiia Umrysh, freshman graphic design major, from Lviv, Ukraine who took the leap in selecting Saint Vincent College as their place of study.

When asked why Trembetska and Umrysh chose the United States as their place to continue their academics, much emphasis was placed on freedom and opportunity in America.

"I want my present self to be proud of my future self," Trembetska says. She acknowledges that the academic learning that is taking place now will benefit her future self as a whole.

Women's Rugby Seeks Success at ARU Championships

By: Jacob Rzempoluch, Sports Editor

Athletic competition at Saint Vincent College goes beyond our NCAA Division III teams. SVC is home to several club sports, including women's rugby. The team, currently coached by alum Gina Johnston, was founded in 2014 and competes in the Allegheny Rugby Union (ARU) Small College Women Division. Coach Johnston played on the team as an undergraduate and while she was completing her master's degree.

Before coming to college, Johnston had never played rugby. However, joining the team with no prior experience is not unusual. "It's a really welcoming, great group of girls, if you ever feel the itch to play, most of our girls, if not all of our girls..."

Get to Know a Little Bit About Marta Trembetska and Anastasiia Umrysh

Long term goals were addressed both academically and outside of school, and the two have high hopes for themselves knowing that the hard work they are putting in the classroom now, as well as adapting to life in America, will positively pan out for years to come.

“I want to develop myself in all areas,” Umrysh says in response to a question about where she sees herself years later. She not only wants to be known as a good person but to grow both personally and intellectually.

Aside from school, the two like to spend free time in a variety of ways. “We like to visit campus events,” Trembetska says. The duo seem to be open to many school wide activities such as sports and club events. “If we have spare time and we know there is something going on... ok let’s go!” Trembetska concludes.

Trembetska and Umrysh both share the same enthusiasm when it comes to community events. From exploring Western Pennsylvania by means of hiking and sightseeing, to joining in on trips to downtown Pittsburgh, the two are in.

What is Ukrainian culture like?

“One word to describe would be vivid, it is colorful with a lot of singing and dancing,” Trembetska says. Umrysh similarly refers to Ukrainian culture by tying in the idea of unity and how their lifestyles are made of relationships with others through forms of group entertainment.

Representing Ukraine, Trembetska and Umrysh are two close friends taking on Pennsylvania and the United States with the help of Saint Vincent College to push toward student learning.

Rugby Sets High Goals as Club Sport never played rugby before college," Johnston said. "Recruiting-wise, most people don't know the team exists outside of the college."

Junior environmental science major Bridgette Gorg also had never played rugby before SVC. "I only started playing rugby my freshman year of college, and because of COVID restrictions, I actually never played a real game of rugby until my sophomore year." Gorg's late start to the sport was not due to lack of interest; she had already been aware of the sport for several years "I saw women's rugby appear in the Olympics for the first time in 2016...but there were no rugby leagues near my town, so when I found out SVC had a team, I was so excited," Gorg said.

Despite recruiting being almost an impossibility as a club team, the women's rugby team has been quite successful since its inception. The team currently has a 3-2-1 record. Last spring, Gorg was named to the ARU Women's Collegiate 7s Select Sides roster alongside teammates Giana Georgiana and Mary Conn; Georgiana was named to the All-Conference team. The Select Sides team, made up of athletes from colleges across Western Pennsylvania and Ohio, competed in Houston against teams from all over the country.

"Traveling to Houston as part of the ARU National Women's Select Team was one of the most exciting experiences of my life...it was such a wonderful experience to travel, meet new people, and play a sport I love, representing my college and rugby union," Gorg said. She plans to try out for the team again this year and make it to the National All-Star Tournament once again.

The women's team typically plays rugby 7's, a type of rugby with seven players on a field rather than fifteen. The faster nature of a game with less players suits the women's team well. According to Coach Johnston, practices are on Tuesday and Wednesday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Interested students are welcome to attend practice to see what the sport is all about.

Scared About Doing Nothing for Halloween?

Everybody loves to celebrate Halloween one way or another, and Saint Vincent's clubs offer plenty of ways to get into the spirit! From volunteer work to dance parties, you're sure to have the fright of your life this year!

Activities Programming Board (APB) has always provided students with plenty of fun during Halloween, and this year is no different. Events like Haunted Hallways, Horror Movie Night, and Pumpkin Paint Night may have passed, but Halloween Bingo is happening on Oct. 27 at 9:30 p.m. in the Carey Lounge. There's also a trip to Kennywood Amusement Park's Phantom Fright Nights on Oct. 28, and tickets are being sold at the Campus Life Window for $20 each. The last events APB is hosting will take place on Oct. 31. There will be an all-day costume contest on ABP's Instagram page (@svc_apb), and to end the night, ghost stories around a fire will be told in front of St. Benedict Hall.

Perhaps you prefer giving treats instead of tricks. If that's the case, then help the Respect Life Club for their annual Halloween for the Hungry event. Each year, the club goes into Latrobe during their trick or treat time and collects canned goods to donate to the food bank at Our Lady of Grace Church, and you can certainly dress up if you wish! Halloween for the Hungry will take place on Oct. 29 from 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.

As mentioned in a previous issue of The Review, Bearcat Buddies — a club that creates events for the Bearcat B.E.S.T. students — will be holding a dance on Oct. 29 from 7:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. in Saint Scholastica Hall. There will be a costume contest, Halloween games, and more! The club requests that those interested in attending sign up with the following link: <https://www.signupgenius.com/go/8050B-4BA9AFE3-halloween>.

Perhaps you want some Halloween decorations for your dorm. Then be sure to head to Tri-Beta's Halloween Bash on Oct. 31 in the Dupre Science Pavilion. There, you can create a skeleton out of pipe cleaners or carve a pumpkin using a scalpel! If you have plenty of decorations, then you can still participate in their games (with prizes!) or stop in to nibble on some snacks.

Uniting All Peoples (UAP) is excited to host an All Hallows Eve Night on Oct. 31 at 7:45 p.m. in the Carey Lounge. There, you can try your hand at some crafts, sip on a spooky mocktail or two, and plenty of other activities. Wondering what these are? Guess you'll have to hop on a broomstick and fly down to find out!

Don't be a lazy bones this Halloween and go roam the campus for a howling good time!
